

Information Systems in Construction Projects Management

Building Sciences PhD Program
ITU Institute of Science and Technology

Assignment-01

Literature search for the studies and models on Information Systems for Construction Industry that may include:

- Conceptual (reference) models of information systems,
- Practical (application) models of information systems,
- Surveys and studies on information systems and technology,
- Commercial software packages, web-based applications for construction industry
- In-house solutions developed by firms in construction industry,
- etc.

Assignment must:

- include the comments and evaluation of the students about the study or model,
- include references from source books and/or articles,
- be prepared as 10 pages at least,
- be written A4 size paper with 1.5 line spacing,
- contain a cover page including the name of course, the title of assignment, student name, student ID, and the submission date.
- be submitted in time; the deadline is announced on the WEB page.